ISN Releases Online Training Tool

DALLAS (March 25, 2013) — ISN releases a new Online Training Tool to its customers within their current ISNworld subscription. This tool allows Owner Clients the ability to deliver and track contractor orientations and workplace training across their global operations, ensuring necessary training has been completed prior to arriving onsite.

Curriculum created by Owner Clients, or their training partners, can be delivered through ISNworld via multimedia platforms. The reporting feature available within this tool supplies contractors and Owner Clients immediate access to current and historical training records for individual employees. The training report is also exportable into Excel, providing customers the opportunity to measure training progress and completion.

“By centralizing our training material in an easy to access location, the Online Training Tool will benefit both Longview and our contractors,” said John Mendenhall, Senior Supply Base Specialist of Longview Fibre Paper and Packaging, Inc. “This will be helpful for internal Longview users to verify safety and training components for contractors.”

“The development of the Online Training Tool serves as a value-added benefit for our customers,” said Brandi Surine, ISN Director/Enterprise Architect. “We have worked hand-in-hand with our clients to build an easy to use tool that meets their growing workplace training needs.”
