To Whom It May Concern:

Airgas is the United States' largest distributor of industrial, medical, and specialty gases and related equipment, safety supplies and MRO products and services to industrial and commercial markets. We subscribed to ISNetworld in 2005 to meet the requirements of several of our clients in the Petrochemical industry. With their expansion into the Life Sciences and Manufacturing industries, we have recently enhanced our business relationship with ISNetworld by establishing a hierarchy account in which all divisions of Airgas will be utilizing the tool as separate entities.

We view ISNetworld as a complimentary partner in servicing the Petrochemical and Life Sciences industries at a higher level. ISNetworld is raising safety standards by providing a database to house and review contractor health and safety information. In addition to increasing safety standards, ISNetworld provides the perfect marketing opportunity for Airgas. We are able to upload our company logo, enter marketing information, populate our work types, office locations, and more on our Dashboard. This information is available to over 125 Owner Clients in the Manufacturing, Life Sciences, and Petrochemical industries offering the potential for new business.

In the time that I have worked with ISNetworld, I have been tremendously impressed with the attention and customer service I have received from the ISNetworld team. I have enjoyed working with them and look forward to growing our business partnership in the years to come.

Sincerely,
