RE: ISNetworld Experience

August 2, 2011

To Whom It May Concern:

From its rural, southeast Kansas roots, more than 30 years ago A-Lert Construction Services has built upon a simple idea – that a labor force of skilled craftsmen, capable of being dispatched on short notice to all types of industrial construction or repair projects, would be of great benefit to customers. Beginning with personnel skilled in the millwright, carpentry and concrete crafts, A-Lert's labor force has broadened to include insulators, electricians, pipefitters, welders, and structural steel craftsmen. The A-Lert name means a safe workplace, honest & integrity, quality workmanship, value pricing, nationwide service, and total customer focus.

Participating with ISNetworld initially required our company to answer and analyze our current data with the expectations of our Owner Clients. This factor alone helped us improve our safety programs by streamlining them in a professional and efficient manner. In addition, using ISNetworld will place us in a position to show existing, as well as new customers that safety is very important to us.

Overall, we are pleased with ISNetworld. The customer service group is always helpful-assisting us when we need it. The time it requires initially can be challenging but a worthwhile process for any organization wanting to present their safety program in a professional and organized manner.

Sincerely,

Steven E. Wilson
Director of Safety
