To Whom It May Concern:

Since Clary E&I Services began in 2006, we have been very committed to the safety of our employees. We have not always been excited about the stringent demands made by ISNetwork. Each time one compliancy goal was met, another seemed to appear. Looking back, we are proud of what we accomplished and grateful for the timelines and goals that ISN provided.

Let's face it, there are many contractors in the petroleum industry and the competition is fierce. A great disparity exists in the safety practices within our field but we have seen, time and again, how ISN sets us apart. When we tell potential clients that we are members of ISNetwork, there is instant recognition and a nod of approval. When auditors ask to see our policy updates, we open the ISN drawer and show them the progress we have made over the last year. ISN helped our safety goals become reality.

We are proud of the quality work we provide in the field. We are proud of our safety program and eager to show it off when current and potential clients visit our offices. Finally, we are thankful to ISNetwork for taking us to this level and leading us on to the next. We are ready!

Sincerely,

Tricia Clary
